Tona Wall Sconce

In Nahuatl, one of the ancient languages of the Aztec culture, Tona means Sun. It is in the spirit of honoring these early people in Mexico that Marjorie Skouras designed the Tona Wall Sconce. Her initial spark was a vintage brooch she found that spoke to her of the motifs proliferating throughout the country during that dynamic era. Made of iron in a gold leaf finish, the wavy rays emanate from a circular disc of white marble that glows warmly when the lights are on. The artistry with which the finish has been applied to this ADA-compliant gold sconce brings it a luxe feel
