Innkeeper White Table Lamp

Flat discs of terracotta encircle a wrought iron spine on our Innkeeper White Table Lamp designed by Ian Thornton. The rustic feel of this natural material still discernible after the white finish has been applied means it has a heavy dose of texture. The table lamp is topped with a light natural linen shade held in place by a matching terracotta finial. Introducing added character are the visible satin black hardware contrasting the pale elements and the columnar body narrowing slightly to create an implied base.
